Commission, supervisors secretly choose port director

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors met with the County Port and Harbor Commission in a secret meeting Tuesday afternoon in which the commission recommended its chairman as its new executive director.

Wilson Wehre, the present executive director who will retire Jan. 14, Wednesday morning confirmed the unannounced meeting began at 3 p.m. at the commission's Waveland offices. He also confirmed that James DeBlanc of Waveland was named the new executive director.

When asked if the general public was notified in any way of the meeting, Wehre replied, "Notification was given to the board (commissioners). But in the event of a specially called meeting we give five days notice to the board (commissioners)."

"There are no state statutes saying we should notify the newspapers," Wehre stated.

But Wehre said all the supervisors were informed of and attended the meeting.

Wehre about two weeks ago told a reporter of The Sea Coast Echo the new director would probably be named at a Dec. 30 commission meeting.

The retiring executive director said the commissioners screened eight applicants for the position, but selected DeBlanc due to his some six years experience as a commissioner.

The commission's selection and a salary will now be considered by the supervisors, Wehre said.

The supervisors' next meeting is slated for 9 a.m. Jan. 3.

Wehre said DeBlanc will probably begin working as executive director on Jan. 3.

When asked if DeBlanc will remain as commission chairman, Wehre replied, "It will be his (DeBlanc's) preference to remain on the commission or not."

The retiring director speculated DeBlanc will remain as a commissioner until the City of Waveland selects a new commission representative.

Four-vehicle pile-up on US-90 injures seven

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A Pearlinton man injured in a Monday afternoon four-vehicle traffic accident was expected to be released from Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis late Wednesday or sometime today.

Leroy Hall, 69, of P.O. Box 123 was listed in good condition with head lacerations suffered in the accident. Mary Perkins, hospital public relations director, said Wednesday.

She said Hall would be released later that day or Thursday.

Six other persons injured in the accident were treated in the hospital emergency room for bumps and bruises and released Monday afternoon, Perkins confirmed.

Those released Monday include Tracy T. Moran, 21, of Lakeview Apartments, No. 69, and Loretta Thomas, 25, of 219 Stennis St., both of Pass Christian; Karen Ray, 23, of 220 Acola Cove in Bay St. Louis; Vicki Lynne McCrary, 20, of 908 Saratoga St. in Long Beach; Robert Mixon, 19, of No. 14 Willow Lane in Gretna, La.; and C.H. Jackson, 29, of General Delivery in Pearlinton.

Brenda Anderson, Bay St. Louis Police Department administrative officer, Tuesday reported Hall is charged with failure to yield the right-of-way in the four-car pile-up which occurred at about 4:22 p.m. at the US-90 and Bouslog Street intersection in the Bay.

The administrative officer said the accident occurred apparently as Hall was driving his pickup truck north on Bouslog across the highway.

His truck was struck broadside in the driver's side door by a car driven by Moran heading east on US-90, the impact threw the truck into the westbound lanes where an auto driven by McCrary struck Hall's vehicle in the right rear fender, and then a van driven by Mixon traveling behind the McCrary vehicle grazed either the front or rear bumper of the pickup, Anderson explained.

Hall's pickup ended up in the northbound lane of Bouslog north of the highway, Anderson said.

The Moran car came to rest in the Bouslog turning bay facing north, the McCrary vehicle ended up facing southwest in the intersection, and the van proceeded in the westbound lanes where Mixon pulled the vehicle into the highway's emergency lane and stopped, the administrative officer reported.

Riding in the Moran vehicle were Thomas and Ray, Anderson said.

Jackson was a passenger in the pickup. Ronald Mixon, also of Gretna, was a passenger in his brother's van, but was apparently not injured, Anderson reported.

"Moran, Thomas and Ray were all transported to the hospital by family members, McCrary was taken to Hancock General by Mobile Medic and Robert Mixon took his brother to the hospital in the van," the administrative officer stated.

The Hall, Moran and McCrary vehicles were all heavily damaged with the Mixon van receiving relatively little damage, Anderson said.

Responding to the accident were three Mobile Medic units and several units of the Bay and Waveland Fire and Police Departments.

New circuit clerk to be sworn Jan. 1

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Jerry Heitzmann of Bay St. Louis, who won the Tuesday Hancock County circuit clerk runoff election, will not be sworn into office until Jan. 1.

Eunice Bermond, named interim clerk after Henry Otis resigned from the office following his pleading guilty to an improper record keeping charge, Wednesday said Heitzmann is eligible to be sworn into office after the County Election Commission certifies the runoff results at about 5 p.m. today.

But the State Department of Corrections is requiring that Heitzmann remain with the state until the end of December, Bermond reported.

Heitzmann, 36, is now supervisor of the department's parole officers on the Gulf Coast.

Bermond said she will administer the oath of office to Heitzmann.

Unofficial election returns show Heitzmann winning by a landslide against Robert Boudin of Bay St. Louis and Hancock Civil Defense director.

Heitzmann gathered 2,063 votes compared to Boudin's 981.

Heitzmann won in all the county voting precincts except Bayou Phillip and West Shoreline where Boudin in both by one vote.

The polls closed at 6 p.m. and all votes were tabulated by 7:10 p.m.

About 50 people jammed the Hancock Board of Supervisors' meeting room at the Courthouse in Bay St. Louis to hear the results.

When the countywide total was announced, many of those in the room applauded.

Both candidates shook hands thanked Hancock residents for voting in the election.

Heitzmann was elected to serve Otis' remaining time in office which will expire Jan. 1984.

Heitzmann and Boudin received the most votes out of six candidates in a special election some two weeks ago.

Precinct returns are on page 11A.

Pass woman maintains 26-year Christmas tradition

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

"How many ways can I say I love you?" might be what Glenda Ladner of Pass Christian ponders each Christmas season before sending a very special card.

But she and her parents in Tulsa, Okla., have always expressed love differently each year with inscriptions on two Christmas cards they have exchanged for the last 26 years.

Ladner, a registered nurse, and her husband, Louis Ladner, a carpenter, live at 11 Cook St.

Glenda Ladner is a Tulsa native and her husband was born and reared in the Deleaux Community.

She recently mailed her worn and yellowing card containing a 26th birthday message of love to her parents, Marvin and Opal Lee.

The cards' messages are different each year and show children's names which appear after birth and disappear after the siblings become adults and move from home.

Although writing space on the cards has become less and less, the annual messages are long and short.

For instance, Ladner's parents in 1956 simply wrote, "Love as ever, Mother and Daddy" and 16 years later inscribed, "We love you all so very much and wish you the best Christmas ever, Mother and Daddy."

The Pass Christian woman notes it cost about five cents to mail the card in 1956, but today via certified mail for the card, carefully protected with cardboard inside an envelope, the postage totals about $3.

When asked if she and her parents selected special cards to exchange, Ladner replies, "I just picked out a card and started sending it."

Ladner says she becomes a bit more superstitious of the tradition every year and fears something might happen to the card en route to Tulsa.

"It's in a way a spooky thing because it's gotten to the point where I'd rather hand deliver the card," she states.

Ladner reports she misplaced her card about three years ago, but luckily found it in her freezer.

She now keeps her card in a bank safety deposit box until it's time for mailing.

Ladner revealed her sister, Shirley Dunagan of Malvern, Ark., has also exchanged the same Christmas cards with their parents, but for almost 30 years.

Quotables by CUEVAS

It is again the season of the year where each day gets a little longer.

We like the longer days like most of you, as we seem to be able to accomplish more when the days are longer.

Winter took a long time coming this year and we understand advance forecasts indicate some really chilly days ahead.

We still like our weather, especially when it is compared to some of our northern neighbors.

We received a call from May Beyer Wednesday informing us that the United Way of Hancock County has reached its goal of $40,000 for 1982.

We are happy the goal has been reached and wish to issue a special thanks to everyone for their 'helping hand'.

It is only through the efforts of all the contributors the goal was able to be reached.

L.J. Breaux, campaign chairman; Conrad Mauffray, executive director; Mrs. Beyer, executive secretary; myself and the other directors of Hancock County's United Way want to thank each and everyone for your support.

We all wish each of you a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

We have been receiving many favorable comments on the Main Street renovations in Bay St. Louis.

Traveling on Main Street has been a problem, but the contractor seems to be moving very swiftly with his work.

Some 25 years ago, the late Joseph O. Mauffray had suggested Main Street needed widening, according to one of our readers.

Mr. Mauffray, a past president of the Chamber of Commerce, had suggested the need because of the increased size of autos and amount of traffic.

We are glad 1983 will bring a beautiful wide Main Street for Bay St. Louis.

It seems Mississippians will be joining the 20th century in education with the recent passage of the educational improvements by the special legislative session.

We know about the compulsory education from our school days as we all knew if school was missed, Mr. Foster Commerce would be paying our parents a visit.

Some will not be happy with the funding of the education programs, but the money has to come from some place.

We are hoping the better educations offered our young children will more than make up for the extra taxes.

Education needs extreme priority at every level, if Mississippi is to rise from the bottom of the economic ladder.

Parties are everywhere at this time of the year and everyone seems to be complaining about the number of them.

Too bad some of them couldn't be scheduled at another time of the year.

Just think, in a few weeks, Mardi Gras Balls will be in full swing.

Merry Christmas to everyone!

News from the Governor

Eligible low-income, elderly and handicapped persons will again receive monetary assistance to help offset winter heating costs through the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) according to the Governor's Office of Energy Assistance (GOEA).

LIHEAP, administered by the Office of Energy Assistance through approximately 24 local community-based organizations, will provide eligible participants with one-time payments ranging from $100 to $170.

Elderly and handicapped persons may begin scheduling appointments on Dec. 1. All other applicants should wait until Dec. 22 before contacting local delivery agencies.

To be eligible for LIHEAP assistance, applicants must have responsibility for providing the heating, and a household income less than 125 percent of the federal poverty level.

When applying, applicants should bring proof of household income (check stubs, pay slips or written statements from employers regarding wages) for at least one month prior to the application date and their heating bills. All applicants must be heads of households or their spouses.

Payments will be in the form of co-payee checks in the names of energy vendors and heads of households. These checks legally may be negotiated only through the vendors.

"Energy assistance is attracting a great deal of interest," said Carl B. Cooper, director of the Office of Energy Assistance, "because of generally poor economic conditions. Mississippi residents particularly have been hit hard because of the state's low per capita income, the high percentage of persons on fixed incomes, rising utility costs and high unemployment."

"We don't yet know how much federal funding we'll have for LIHEAP, but we anticipate that it will be somewhere between $9.6 million and $13.7 million," Cooper said.

For information on where to apply for LIHEAP assistance, persons may contact the Governor's Service Line at (toll-free) 1-800-223-7622.

I want to promote my business, but it's hard to decide what to advertise each week. Most of the time it seems to work, but sometimes it's a complete bust. What am I doing wrong? Tired of Gambling.

Dear TOG: Unless you're trying to unload out of season or sale merchandise at cut rate prices, there's only one way to select items to promote.

You advertise the biggest and hottest selling merchandise you have. That's what people want, and what they want, they'll get. You get them in the store for what they want, and then you can show them what you think they should buy.

Be careful, though. Make sure you have the items you advertise and don't downgrade those items trying to sell better merchandise. Federal Trade Commission has come down hard on several large retailers for "bait and switch" — a term they use to describe this practice.

If you're not really tired of "gambling" some advice I once heard from an old poker player might be applicable. "Never try to buy a pot," he said. "If you have the cards, run up the bet; if you don't, fold."

Advertising goods not in demand is like trying to bluff, or "buy a pot." You are gambling, and will probably lose. However, if you have the goods, load on. The sky's the limit, and here the analogy ends for you are no longer gambling — it's like holding a pat hand.

Advertising is an inexact science. At best it is a predicable art.

But, it can be a viable vehicle for the businessman who chooses to control his own fate. Many meek souls in the business world seem complacent to sit behind their cash registers and let fate, whatever it may be, transport customers across their thresholds.

Their more virile brothers, however, know the realizations are out there in the form of customers waiting to get the word. And regularly they put in a potent bid to get their share of the market. Pure bluster doesn't get the job done, but boldness based on good merchandise in season, does.

Uncertainty, if it leads to thoughtful analysis, is beneficial. But it should not be confused with weakness.

The meek shall get theirs in inheritance, not commerce. Success comes with promoting goods that you could sell without advertising to those who come in. You use the built in demand of the advertised goods to attract those who would not otherwise come in. Ads build store traffic, traffic builds volume and volume builds profit.

With volume you can sell for less and build even more traffic; but it starts and ends with traffic. And store traffic results from advertising goods that are in strong demand.

Maintenance employees granted more vacation

By BRENT MACEY

Hancock County School Superintendent Terrell Randolph questioned unauthorized use of the Hancock North Central school cafeteria and butted heads with school board members Tuesday over the board's decision last week to give maintenance employees a Christmas vacation from Dec. 17 through Jan. 3—the same vacation as the one for students and teachers.

After hearing Randolph's request that the maintenance people not be allowed additional school holidays, the board agreed to authorize the district's principals and superintendent to call maintenance workers to school for emergency situations between Dec. 17 and Jan. 3.

Board members claimed they knew nothing of events surrounding the use of the school's cafeteria for a wedding which Randolph said involved one employee in the central office.

In reference to the maintenance employees, Randolph said, "I feel these people (maintenance people) should be paid on a monthly basis to work."

"I'd like to ask Mr. Gex (Joseph Gex, school board attorney) to see if we can pay people in this district; legally pay people in this district, without them working."

After insinuating that the practice is unlawful, Randolph warned, "...I may not sign a check for a person in the district who does not work."

He stated again, as he did last week, that school buses continually break down. He said preventative maintenance should be conducted over the holiday to alleviate transportation problems before students return to school in January.

He labeled the condition of the district's buses as "critical" and said one bus broke down Friday on US-90 and "four or five others have broken down in the last several weeks."

"I'm concerned about the transportation department and the safety of our children. And I'm concerned about the district's and the taxpayer's money being used to pay people who don't work," he said.

Randolph cited a state law which requires preventative maintenance to be performed on school buses.

One section of the law requires bus brakes be inspected twice monthly with certificates of inspection filed at the superintendent's office.

Failure to make these inspections can result in a maximum $200 fine, a year in the county jail, or both, Randolph told the board.

He said his job of superintendent automatically makes him transportation supervisor and he would be liable if the law is not followed.

"I know this is not real good public relations with the staff, but I must fulfill my obligations," he said.

In addition, Randolph pointed to three pages of maintenance work on three school buildings in the district which principals listed as needing repairs.

Following the statements by Randolph, Board Member Johnny Banks stated he had been unaware that the principals had submitted a list of needed repairs to school buildings at the last meeting.

"The people who are needed at these schools should return," he said Tuesday.

The board, consisting of Monvel Cuevas, George Ladner and Banks, then approved allowing principals and the superintendent to enlist the help of needed maintenance personnel during the holiday for emergency purposes.

After the meeting, Randolph said he would review the list of repairs submitted by principals and set priorities for what he considers are emergencies.

The issue concerning vacation time apparently began several weeks ago when Randolph sent letters to the district's maintenance people requesting them to work throughout the teacher's and student's Christmas vacation.

Randolph requested bus mechanics use the time to prepare a complete inventory of all tools and supplies before Jan. 6. He also suggested three pages of maintenance repairs be undertaken at the schools.

At the meeting last week after the letters had been mailed, Cuevas suggested the entire holiday vacation be approved for maintenance people.

He said an "unwritten policy" exists which allows the maintenance people time off during this period.

Maintenance people are willing to work if there is an emergency situation, he said.

Although Randolph, at last week's meeting, presented the list of needed repairs submitted by principals and also noted the condition of the buses, board members said none of the conditions warranted an emergency.

On Friday, after insinuating that additional paid vacation time is unlawful, Randolph presented a job description calendar outlining days on which maintenance people should be given holidays.

He said this calendar had been approved by the board.

The calendar lists three days at Christmas and one day at the New Year as part of yearly vacation time to be granted maintenance personnel.

Also at the meeting, Randolph questioned if the school board had authorized use of the cafeteria Saturday night by women who he said were cooking turkeys and hams for a wedding the following day.

Randolph said a key to the cafeteria had been issued by Hancock North Central Principal Donald Hillman.

The superintendent told the board that someone in the central office was involved with a wedding being conducted the next day.

Randolph revealed Wednesday the district's federal programs coordinator Harlin Hill had authorized use of the cafeteria, apparently to prepare food for his daughter's wedding reception Saturday.

After learning about the infraction of school policy, Cuevas said the people involved should be reprimanded.

Randolph noted after the meeting that a school policy prohibits use of school equipment or facilities without the board's approval.

In other business, the board agreed to allow the Kiln Volunteer Fire Department to use the Hancock North Central football field Jan. 8 for a stunt man motorcycle show featuring Bob Duffey.

Final approval of the show is pending the signing of a certificate of insurance and a injury release form to be presented by Duffey.

Council ok's program to reduce gas leakage

By BRENT MACEY

The first steps toward reducing a large quantity of "unaccounted for" natural gas loss from Bay St. Louis gas lines were taken by Bay Council members at a meeting Tuesday.

The city accepted a plan submitted by Utility Department Head Bill Johnson which establishes a program to be followed to rectify the problem.

The council implemented the first phase of the program Tuesday and approved hiring Southern Cross to undertake a "leak survey" beginning in the first week of January.

A 30 day time limit was set for the survey which is expected to cost $201 per day.

The council also agreed to hire another employee for the gas department who Johnson said could be used to help repair and replace leaking gas lines.

Johnson was also authorized to attempt to purchase two used vehicles for the gas department from the state at a cost not to exceed $3,000 for both vehicles.

The council's action followed a warning issued to the city by the Mississippi Public Service Commission last month that requested immediate action be taken to remedy a natural gas leakage of more than 20 percent throughout the city.

The maximum standard of gas loss allowed by Congress under the Natural Gas Pipeline Safety Act of 1968 is six percent.

US-90 ACCIDENT—Comforting his sister, Karen Ray of Bay St. Louis, just after she was injured in a four-vehicle accident at the US-90 and Bouslog Street intersection in that city Monday afternoon is Firefighter Richard (Smoky) Trudell of the Waveland Fire Department. Also assisting at the accident scene are, clockwise from left, Firefighter Marty Blackstock of the Bay Fire Department, Emergency Medical Technician Paul Kenny of Mobile Medic and Firefighter Ann Peneguy of the Bay department. Trudell Wednesday said he did not realize his sister was involved in the accident until after he had arrived to assist at the scene. May was released from Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis Monday night after treatment for neck and back injuries suffered when she struck the windshield of the car she was riding in, Trudell reported. Man facing burglary, forgery charges

By BRENT MACEY
A Pass Christian man charged with burglary in Hancock County was arrested Tuesday by Harrison County law enforcement officials who have charged him with four counts of uttering forgery.

Gregory King, 24, of Route 2, Box 812 in Pass Christian, has been charged with the burglary of two trailers at Tranquility Trails in northern Hancock County.

He is being held in Hancock County Jail under a $10,000 bond.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson stated King was employed as a night watchman at the trailer park when two trailers were burglarized on Dec. 12, and 13, respectively.

Nine company checks were stolen from one trailer while some $50 in cash and a digital watch were taken from the other trailer.

According to Peterson, King allegedly forged and cashed three of the checks.

He was arrested while attempting to cash a fourth check in Harrison County, Peterson said.

Hancock County Investigator Delbert Seay stated the five remaining checks were discovered in the glove compartment of King's truck after he was arrested.

Seay alleged that King cashed the first three checks at the Hancock Bank branch at the Edgewater Mall in Biloxi, the A&P Store on 25th Avenue in Gulfport and at Lawlers Grocery on US-49 in Gulfport.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY

A Bay St. Louis man was met at the door of his house Tuesday night by two men wearing stocking masks who attempted to rob him.

The Bay St. Louis Police Department have suspects in the attempted robbery of Donn Murray of 312 St. John Street, according to Bay Police Department Administrative officer Brenda Anderson.

Anderson said Murray arrived home at approximately 5:30 p.m., parked his car in a carport adjoining his house and went to the mail box.

As he was unlocking the door to his house, two men, who had apparently been waiting around the corner of the house, attempted to rob him, she said.

"He (Murray) started to run across the street and then he turned around and chased them," Anderson said.

The robbers escaped. Anderson was unsure of whether the robbers had guns.

Investigator Murray Ladner, Anderson, Patrolman Bob Butler, Anderson Hall and Junior Auxiliary Chief Blanche Polit are handling the investigation.

PURSE SNATCHING

An Odessa, Texas man is being held in Hancock County Jail on $7,500 bond in connection with a Monday night theft of a purse from a 68-year-old Bay St. Louis woman in Waveland's Choctaw Plaza.

The purse was reported to have contained some $1,000.

Francisco D. Sanchez, 20, was charged with robbery after being arrested by Harrison County deputies with several other Odessa youths in car on Beatline Road and I-10 some one hour after the incident.

Four other youths including one juvenile have been returned to Texas. All charges have been dropped against the other four youths, according to Waveland Police Department Investigator Sandra Henley.

"He (Sanchez) was the only one who was really involved, the investigator stated.

"Sanchez knocked the woman down and stole her purse," she alleged.

"He had all the money when they were arrested," she added.

The incident occurred at approximately 7:40 p.m.

Henley stated a passer-by witnessed the incident and attempted to pull Sanchez from the get-away car.

During the attempt he (the passer-by) was struck," Henley said.

"However, he managed to give police a description of the vehicle and the license plate," she said.

ROBBER SOUGHT

Waveland police are looking for a man who robbed the clerk of a Majik Market convenience store on Sears Avenue in Waveland at gun point early Tuesday morning.

Sandra Henley, Waveland Police Department investigator, said the clerk was leaving the store with the night's cash when a man wearing a red ski mask, and green army jacket pointed a gun at her and told her to drop everything and drive away.

Some $671 was reported stolen.

Police are looking for a man approximately 5'6", weighing some 150 pounds. Anyone with information is urged to call the police, Henley said.

UM offers Honors Program for exceptional students

Prospective University of Mississippi students with exceptional scholastic ability and a desire to reach beyond the intellectual limits of ordinary college classrooms can apply for the University's Honors Program.

The Honors Program, which provides a rigorous, individualized program of study that is challenging to the exceptional student, is a separate department that brings together selected students and distinguished faculty at Ole Miss.

"Small classes and seminars encourage discussion, promote the exchange of ideas and values and involve the students in active questioning," Program Director Dr. George Everett said.

In addition to obtaining an advanced education, honors students are offered a study room in the library for their exclusive use; a closer social and intellectual rapport with their peers and professors and the advantage of individualized instruction.

"Upon graduation, honors students receive a certificate of achievement of the highest academic honor the University can confer to undergraduates, and they are immediately recognized by businesses, medical schools and graduate schools as the cream of the crop," Everett said.

Admission to the Honors Program is competitive. Students are selected on the basis of academic record, class rank, scores on national standardized tests, writing samples, references, recommendations and applications.

To be considered for the program, entering freshman and transfer students must rank near the top 5 percent of their class, score in the 550 range on the SAT math and verbal tests, make 28 or higher on the ACT, have excellent writing skills and excel in a non-academic area.

Although these areas are used as a guide in selection for the Honors Program, extraordinary achievement in one area may be judged to offset a relative weakness in another area, Everett said.

Interested students may obtain application forms by writing Dr. Everett at 306 Barr Hall, The University of Mississippi, University, Miss. 38677, or telephone 232-7294. Forms and other application materials should be submitted to Dr. Everett by March 1, 1983.

AAA reports holiday gasoline prices down

Christmas travelers in Louisiana and Mississippi should be paying slightly less for fuel during the Christmas and New Year holiday season than on Thanksgiving, reports the American Automobile Association.

According to AAA's Fuel Gauge Survey, prices in Louisiana dropped by 1.3-cents per gallon and in Mississippi by 4-cents since the Thanksgiving survey.

The average price per gallon in Louisiana is $1.264 and $1.359 in Mississippi.

Although motorists traveling throughout the two-state area should find ample fuel supplies during the Christmas holidays, approximately 45 percent of the stations surveyed said they would be closed on Christmas Day and New Year's Day.

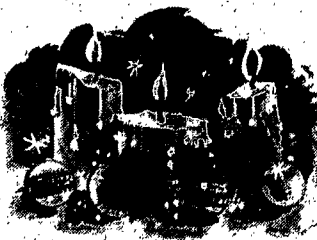

Stations will be closing earlier than usual on Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve.

AAA suggests that travelers plan fuel stops wisely on these days to prevent running out of fuel.

A GIFT OF APPRECIATION—Joseph Servat, new president of the Waveland Senior Citizens, hands Eva Shea, outgoing president of the organization, a present shortly after being installed at recent ceremonies conducted at the organization's Annual Christmas Banquet at the American Legion Post 77 in Waveland. WHITE HOUSE JAZZ

Dizzy Gillespie, Stan Getz and Chick Corea are "In Performance at the White House" at 7 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 25, on the Mississippi ETV Network. Itzhak Perlman is master of ceremonies, and two jazz newcomers, Diane Schuur and Jon Faddis, will be introduced.

Nancy Reagan hosts the concert, which was taped Dec. 4 in the East Room of the White House.

Considered the "dean of jazz musicians," the irrepressible Dizzy Gillespie blazed a trail for succeeding musical generations with his famous "bent bell" trumpet.

Alto saxophonist Stan Getz came into the spotlight as the core of the famed "Four Brothers Sound," which a jazz historian has called "the most influential ensemble in modern jazz."

A protégé of Getz in the 1960s was pianist Chick Corea, who went on to establish himself as a major innovative artist in his own right.

MASTER SPY

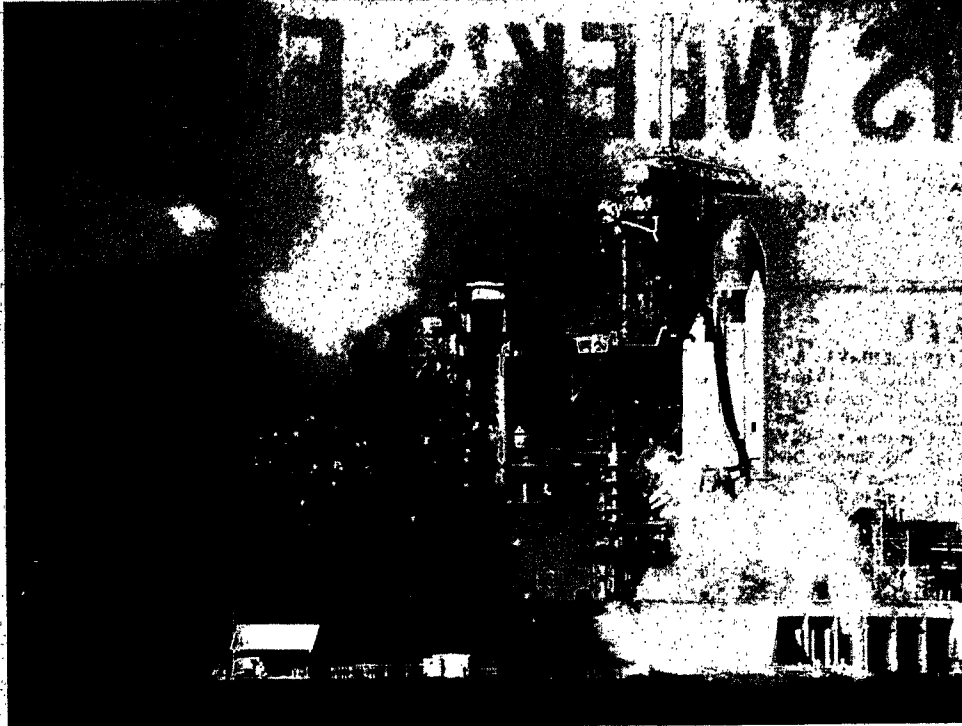

"Small, podgy and at best middle-aged, he was by appearance one of London's meek who do not inherit the earth."

"He" is master spy George Smiley as novelist John Le Carré describes him in "Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy" and as Sir Alec Guinness portrays him on "Great Performances."

The six-part dramatization of Le Carré's best-selling spy thriller will be rebroadcast at 8 p.m., Mondays, beginning Dec. 27, on the Mississippi ETV Network. It was first seen on ETV in September 1980.

Based in part on the actual penetration made by three Soviet double agents into the top ranks of British intelligence some years ago, "Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy" is the story of the search for a Russian "mole"—a spy who has worked his way into the ruling quartet of Le Carré's British Secret Service, known as the Circus (because it is situated at Cambridge Circus, London).

George Smiley (Guinness), who has been dishonorably retired because of his connection with Control (Alexander Knox), the previous head of the Circus, is secretly called back to duty to discover which of Smiley's former intelligence colleagues is the traitor.

CHALLENGER ENGINES READY—The Space Shuttle Challenger, America's newest orbiter, sailed through a crucial 20-second test firing Dec. 18 of its new, more powerful main engines which were acceptance tested earlier at the National Space Technology Laboratories. The three main engines roared to life at the Kennedy Space Center about 10 a.m. and continued firing for the full planned duration of just over 20 seconds. Shutdown of the engines, the first shuttle engines ever qualified to perform at 104 percent of rated power level, occurred normally. The Flight Readiness Firing marked the first time these engines had ever been tested in the clustered flight configuration, although each had been successfully test fired individually at NSTL. The maiden voyage of the Challenger is now scheduled for late January. (NASA photo, courtesy of NSTL)

Some of Santa's Little Helpers won't have a Merry Christmas.

Unfortunately, it happens every Christmas Season. Some people think they can save money on Christmas shopping by stealing. Others do it as a prank. None think they'll get caught. But those who do get caught go to jail or pay a very stiff fine. Because

SHOPLIFTING IS A CRIME.

Too much good cheer may dampen holiday spirit

A little too much "good cheer" could dampen your holiday spirits, warns the American Automobile Association.

The Central Gulf Division of AAA wants local motorists who plan to celebrate the holidays with some traditional toasting to keep in mind that drinking and driving don't mix.

Since this season brings together family and friends at festive occasions, AAA hopes to help make every party a success the morning after through its annual "First a Friend...Then Host" program in Louisiana and Mississippi.

The campaign is designed to remind hosts that their first responsibility is to see that guests — their friends or relatives — leave the party in a condition to make it home safely.

"It's no secret that accident rates increase during the holiday season," said

Clem Buckman, traffic safety manager. "Statistics have shown that many traffic fatalities and injuries result through the carelessness of intoxicated drivers."

Through "First a Friend...Then a Host," AAA suggests keeping the following tips in mind:

—Hosts or a bartender should mix the drinks for guests.

—Non-alcoholic beverages should be provided along with other drinks.

—It's unwise to pressure non-drinking partygoers to have "just one."

—Be alert throughout the party to anyone who might be drinking too much.

—Party-givers do well to push food instead of drinks throughout the party. Providing a tempting and lavish display of rich and starchy snacks and main dishes can help guests slow down the absorption of alcohol into their bloodstream.

—Even though they don't have to drive, hosts can set an example by not over-indulging in alcohol.

—Dancing, games and conversation will keep guests circulating and divert attention from the bar.

—About an hour before the party ends is the time for plenty of good, hot coffee. It will not sober anyone up, but it's a good substitute for that "one for the road."

And what if there are tipsy guests at the end of the evening, despite all party planning? Tactfully arranging transportation home or letting them "sleep it off" overnight are the only safe alternatives.

"This holiday season give the gift of true friendship," Buckman said. "Plan your party for those who have to drive home when it's over."

Utility company economies would reduce energy costs

THE UTILITY RATE INCREASE

By JAMES F. LEA

Department of Political Science

University of Southern Mississippi

The following article resulted from a grant by the Mississippi Committee for the Humanities to the Mississippi Press Association. The opinions expressed are those of the author.

The furor has abated over the $14 million in requested rate increases by MP&L, Mississippi Power, and South

Central Bell, but the real issues remain:

How can our country produce and distribute energy so that we are not dependent on erratic foreign suppliers?

How can each citizen be guaranteed sufficient energy for a decent life?

Our problems with energy began in the 1960s when the U.S. use of energy intensified. By the 1970s each U.S. citizen was consuming twice the energy of each West German.

Simultaneously, Americans developed a misplaced faith in the potential of nuclear power.

Eisenhower was reported to have said that once nuclear power was developed, electricity would be so plentiful that there would be no need to meter it.

Government restrictions on domestic energy prices forced the "Seven Sisters," the multinational conglomerates that control 70 percent of our energy resources, to depend on overseas oil to satisfy the enormous U.S. requirements of energy. When the OPEC nations raised the price of oil, the U.S. citizen was caught.

In order to use less foreign oil, U.S. citizens needed to develop domestic resources. In order to keep domestic prices, if based on supply and demand, down, U.S. citizens needed to use less energy.

To accomplish these goals, U.S. decision-makers chose to allow prices to rise dramatically.

The policy, designed to reverse the trend that had made the U.S. the most energy-intensive nation in the world, hit directly at the rise in living standards that had accompanied the replacement of human and animal energy with energy drawn from wood, coal, gas, uranium, and particularly petroleum.

The policy also stimulated increased domestic production. An immediate flurry in oil activity resulted in Mississippi.

But the increased production and lower consumption nationwide made the oil industry take a quick nose-dive in profits and little follow-through drilling has taken place in Mississippi.

To add to local distress, Mississippians are now paying through the nose for that policy decision. Donald Lutken, MP&L president, said recently that the price his company pays for gas to generate electricity has increased 93 percent and oil 671 percent since 1970.

To offset these increased costs, Mississippians are already paying $343 million more to utilities than last year. MP&L has indicated it will ask for an additional rate increase when Grand Gulf nuclear plant begins operation at Port Gibson.

Contrary to prediction, nuclear power costs 50 percent more to produce than energy from conventional plants.

People in other states face the same situation. Louisianians are facing a half-billion dollars in pending rate increases.

Alabama Power has recently requested a record $454 million increase in rates.

Assuming that the shift to domestic oil will be successful, what can be done to reduce the cost of energy?

At the state level, the rates-under-bond law can be changed, allowing the pace of increases in rates.

Following the lead of other states, the Public Service Commission can compel MP&L to de-emphasize costly nuclear power.

The utilities can cut out country-club memberships for executives, cheap loans for employees, unnecessary advertising.

Governor Winter's proposals to revamp fuel adjustments and state audits of utilities can be enacted.

Nationally, interest rates will decline as the economy

DRUNK DRIVING

"One for the Road," a documentary about drunk driving, will be broadcast at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 23, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

Along with the statistics associated with drinking and driving, the program also examines the human suffering it causes, the psychological impact on society and the current trend to get the national problem of drunk driving under control. The program focuses on a controversial drunk driving case in Virginia, and interviews with the principal parties involved are included.

"One for the Road" also looks at the current grassroots movement lobbying for greater punishment for those arrested for drunk driving. Representatives of MADD, Mothers Against Drunk Drivers; SADD, Students Against Drunk Drivers; and RID, Remove Intoxicated Drivers, present their views.

The Contemporary Arts Center in New Orleans will sponsor Mardi Gras workshops for both adults and young people beginning Monday, Jan. 10.

The workshops will feature costuming, mask making and float building by prominent artists. The creation of spectacular, unique and safe floats of fancy is the object of the five moderately priced workshops titled "King Jimmy Buffet's Official Krewe of Clones Cockroach Krewe," "The Creature: Fantasy & Fire of Your Choice," "Children's Mask Making," and "Advanced Mask Making."

The weekend and night-time sessions will feature artists/instructors Luis Colmenares, Mike Stark, Chris Chapman and Marianne Bacon.

Colmenares, artist from Fashion Moda South, is the prize-winning creator of the fire-breathing, eyes-flashing Dragon who stole the show at last year's Krewe of Clones parade. Stark, well-known French Quarter figure, is a founder of the Mask Makers Guild and exhibits his work nationally. Chapman studied under master mask maker Jack Chutes and works in leather, plaster and paper. Bacon recently produced the Sens-o-rama environment at Arts/Fest and has created installations at the Contemporary Arts Center.

The "Cockroach" workshop will include creation of costumes and masks on the infamous Dale Milford Cockroach which will be the King's Float for singer Jimmy Buffet, King of the Krewe of Clones parade. Workshop participants will help work on the float and march in the official King's Krewe on Jan. 29. The "Creature" workshop led by Colmenares is an opportunity for groups or organizations including youngsters to create a giant creature costume with all of the participants inside, emphasizing fantasy, comfort and safety.

"Fantasy and Fire of Your Choice" offers individuals the chance to create special keepsake costumes which may glow, smoke or wriggle, depending on the design chosen.

Stark's "Advanced Mask Making" session will deal with artistic masks and a variety of exotic materials including feathers, skins and more. Children will have a chance to spend a Saturday morning creating masks out of plaster and natural materials on Jan. 22. Registration night will be held in a party atmosphere on Jan. 10. For further information on the schedule and fees call 523-1216.

This project is supported by the Louisiana Division for the Arts.

EASTER SEAL SPELL-A-THON—Fourth and fifth grade students of North Bay Elementary School recently participated in an Easter Seal Spell-A-Thon to help raise money for the handicapped. The students were issued pledge sheets of which sponsors would pledge so much money per word spelled correctly. They were then given a spelling test of 100 words which was graded by their teachers and used as evidence to collect their pledges from their sponsors. These students collected $1,406 over a two week period, 70% of which will remain in the Hancock County area. Top award winner was fourth grade student Susan Sandoz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Sandoz of Bay St. Louis. QUESTION—Heroin abuse is the number one category of treatment admissions at drug abuse centers. Which drug is second?

- a) Marijuana
- b) Cocaine
- c) LSD
- d) Speed

ANSWER—In the period 1975-78, marijuana abusers were the second largest class of patients admitted for treatment at drug abuse centers. Thirteen percent of the admissions were for marijuana as the primary drug of abuse.

"The question of physiological dependence on marijuana is still open," NIDA's Director, Dr. William Pollin, told a congressional hearing. "But, it is becoming increasingly clear that individuals do become habituated."

Correct answer - a.

QUESTION—In most cases, a drug that is taken alone and exactly as prescribed is safe. The potential for abuse usually arises when drugs are not taken as prescribed or are used in combination with other drugs, or with alcohol. What percentage of Americans develop serious dependency problems on prescription drugs?

- a) 1%
- b) 3%
- c) 5%
- d) 10%

ANSWER—The National Institute on Drug Abuse es-

Diamondhead women golfers conduct annual gathering, present awards

The annual Christmas party and luncheon of the Diamondhead Women's Golfers was conducted recently.

After meeting for coffee and doughnuts at the Country Club locker rooms, 60 players competed in a nine-hole scramble.

Social Chairman Jo Gatipon decorated the luncheon tables with tree ornaments, made from golf tees which were given as favors at each place.

Some 72 members and 20 of their husbands enjoyed the lunch. Members exchanged Christmas gifts.

Outgoing President Pat Sexton presented awards to the 18-hole golfers which included Lee Arnold winning the trophy for most improved golfer.

Wilma Smith won a trophy for the Trans Tournament. Smith was also given an award for "breaking 100" for the first time.

Florence Holt won for the most "birdies" during the period. Ringers winners in each flight were presented with awards in the shape of bells which included the Pine Course, first flight to Mary Hays with low gross and Dusty McBee with low net, second flight to Eva Bond with low gross and Bonnie Coughtry with low net, third flight to Eura Watson with low gross and Connie Carter with low net and fourth flight to Pat Sexton with low gross and Terry Settle with low net.

SPORTS

Area soccer results reported

The Bay Area Soccer Club, after a month of rainouts, finally got a weekend full of soccer, on clear and sunny days.

In the Under Eight Division the Purple Knights maintained their unbeaten record by defeating Coca Cola 3-1.

Specialty Metal fell victim to the Bears 4-1, and the Scrappy Doo's broke into the win column with a 4-1 victory over the Firebirds.

In the Under 10 Division Little Italy easily defeated American Legion 8-0, while Loiacano's maintained the pace with a 5-0 win over Hancock General Hospital.

McDonald's Restaurant and McDonald Realty played to an exciting, hard-fought 2-2 tie.

In the Under 12 Division the Strikers gained their first victory with a 5-3 win over winless Farm Bureau, Kiln.

Mary Carter Paints kept their record unblemished with a 8-1 win over Dr. Murphree, DDS, while Hale Homes overwhelmed the previously unbeaten Golden Eagles 9-0.

The Under 12 Girls "Panthers" dropped a heart-breaker to their SMSC counterparts, 4-3, after leading 3-1 for three periods on the strength of goals by Jenie Carver and Virginia Gagle and the fine defensive efforts of Shannon Maggio.

Unfortunately the Panthers were one player short the entire game and ran out of gas in the final period.

Over at the Seminary, Homes of the South had a surprisingly easy victory over Picayune, 6-2, paced by Sam Seymour and Mark Wheeler with two goals apiece. Gulf Coast Waste annihilated Bay-Waveland Tire 14-0 with both teams playing two players short. Seven different players scored for Gulf Coast Waste.

In the finale the Giants (the Under 16 Girls) easily defeated the SMSC Under 14 Girls, who were playing two short, 8-1 behind Shannon O'Brien, Andrea Ambrose and a strong defense led by Patricia Garcia.

This is the last soccer competition until after the Holidays. The BASC Board will meet Jan. 6, and the season will recommence on Jan. 15, with make-up games.

There are still openings for players in the Under 12 and Under 14 Divisions, so any boys with birth years between 1969 and 1972 inclusive are urged to register for the remainder of the season.

Also, potential sponsors are still being sought for the few unsponsored teams remaining.

Nunn and Barrett PRJC's bright hopes

Pearl River Junior College Head Basketball Coach Billy Holmes has had his problems during the first half of the 1982-83 basketball season.

Last year the PRJC Wildcats put together a 19-9 overall ledger and made a trip to the National Junior College Regional Tournament in Memphis. When this fall began it looked as if the Wildcats had the talent for an encore.

At Christmas break, Holmes and his assistant, Ned Eades, are looking to regroup and start over again. The Wildcats have put together a 5-4 overall ledger and 2-3 division mark, however, what lies ahead in January is stunning.

The 'Cats must face powerful Co-Min, Ulica, Gulf Coast, and Hinds.

"We have to regroup during the holidays," Holmes said. "We have a couple new players coming in, but we have also lost two of our starters. We all will have to do some soul searching during Christmas."

When school and practice began last September the Wildcat roster included 14 players. By the time the 'Cats lost to Jones last Monday the list included eight.

Three players were cut from the squad in early November because of discipline problems. Two others left school and freshman Scott Vaughn is injured.

When final semester grades were posted another player had failed to pass the required hours to be eligible. This has been all the bad news.

But according to Holmes there are some bright spots. Steve Nunn, a 6'5" former Hancock North Central star and a member of the Wildcat team for a short time two years ago, has rejoined the team. Two other players are also expected to join the Wildcats.

Andy Barrett, a 6'6" freshman from Bay St. Louis is now eligible to play and Nicky Fruge, a former Oak Grove star will also rejoin the team.

"We are looking at survival," Holmes said. "The road is tough but I think this group of players will accept the challenge of playing the top teams of the state."

"I hope we can pull an upset or two down the stretch," Holmes said. "I do think we are going to be competitive."

New Orleans sophomore Glen Boyd is the 'Cats' leading scorer, averaging 13 points per game. Freshman McDouglas Gabriel will be ineligible to play next semester. He was the 'Cats' leading scorer with 10 points per game.

The 'Cats' leading freethrow shooter is Picayune's Rene Acker. He has hit on 18 of 21 tries for an 86 percent mark.

As a team, the Wildcats are shooting 45 percent from the field and 62 percent from the freethrow line. The 'Cats are averaging 66 points per game while allowing the opponent 64.

The Wildcats will play the University of Quebec in Picayune on Jan. 3.

PRJC's Carmen Reed leading Lady Wilcats

Carmen Reed, Pearl River College's 6'10" freshman sensation, who won All-Metro New Orleans laurels as a junior and senior playing for McDonough 35 High School, is the Lady Wilcats' leading scorer and rebounder.

The PRJC girls have put together an 8-3 overall ledger at the Christmas break and Reed has been a mainstay in the Lady 'Cats' program. After 31 games Reed is averaging almost 20 points and 12 rebounds per game. She has scored 214 points and pulled down 138 total rebounds. Reed is shooting 59 percent from the field, hitting 66 of 113 attempts. She has also connected on 59 percent (44 of 74) of her free throws.

Another New Orleans freshman, Jackie Ridgway, a graduate of Grace King High School, is averaging 13 points per game and five rebounds. She has the best free throw shooting percentage, making 25 of 38 attempts or 66 percent.

Close behind in third place, is sophomore Sharon Williams of Purvis. Williams is averaging 12 points per game, five rebounds and is the assist leader of the squad. During 11 games Williams has dished out 40 assists or more than five per game.

Freshman Kell Lott of Petal is a close second in the assist department. She has 54 assists and is averaging 6 points per game.

As a team, the Lady Wilcats are hitting only 44 percent, making 362 of 829 shots. From the free throw line the Lady 'Cats have hit 57 percent (159-284).

Pearl River has scored 645 points to the opponents' 637. PRJC started off with six straight wins before losing to Gulf Coast, East Central and Hinds.

The Lady Wilcats will break for Christmas and then return to action against Ulica, Jan. 11. The next home game is against Southwest, Jan. 17.

"AND HIS LAST WORDS WERE, 'MUMBLE, MUMBLE, MUMBLE, GROWL.'"

Jim Stafford and Rex Allen Jr. to headline Dixie National Rodeo

Rex Allen Jr. and Jim Stafford, stars of television's "Nashville on the Road" headline the Dixie National Rodeo, Feb. 10 through 18 at the Mississippi Coliseum in Jackson.

The rodeo will be held in conjunction with the 18th annual Dixie National Livestock Show at the Fairgrounds Complex.

"As always, we have an excellent rodeo planned for Dixie National visitors," said Jim Buck Ross, commissioner of Mississippi Agriculture and Commerce.

Billy Orr, manager of the Fairgrounds Complex, in Jackson, said, "Rex Allen Jr. and Jim Stafford are two outstanding young performers. We're extremely pleased to feature them during the rodeo."

Tommy Strickland, livestock manager, said, "Visitors to the Dixie National can expect to see the highest quality livestock in the various judging shows and at the rodeo."

Allen sings during intermission at rodeo performances Thursday, Feb. 10; Friday, Feb. 11; Saturday, Feb. 12 and Sunday, Feb. 13. All performances, except for 2 p.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday matinees are at 7:30 p.m. On Saturday, Allen will perform two shows.

Stafford will perform at the rodeo's intermission Monday, Feb. 14; Tuesday, Feb. 15; and Wednesday, Feb. 16. Rodeo performances are at 7:30 p.m.

The son of famous movie cowboy, Rex Allen Sr., Allen spent childhood summers playing rhythm guitar with his father's band.

During the folk music boom in the 60s, Allen formed a trio, patterning himself after Hoyt Axton, his favorite singer of the time.

Allen found himself heading a group called "Saturday's Children" during a rock revival sparked by the Beatles. Subsequently, he attended college as a theater arts major. He also studied for a year and a half at MGM's studio for actors.

After his discharge from the Army in 1969, Allen settled in Los Angeles to pursue a singing career in earnest. After two discouraging years of playing bars, Allen and his wife relocated to Nashville in 1971.

Allen's hits have included "Me and My Broken Heart," "With Love" and "Two Less Lonely People."

For seven years, Allen sang modern country, mixing in a little western whenever possible. When he felt he had the credibility to perform the music he knew best...cowboy music...Allen began doing so.

Jim Stafford, who appeared at the Dixie National Rodeo several years ago, is a storyteller, humorist, songwriter and performer.

The public was introduced to Stafford in 1973 with the album, "Jim Stafford." From that album came four hit singles, "Spiders and Snakes," "Swamp Witch," "My Girl Bill" and "Wildwood Weed." Four consecutive hits from a debut album is an achievement duplicated only in recent memory by Fleetwood Mac.

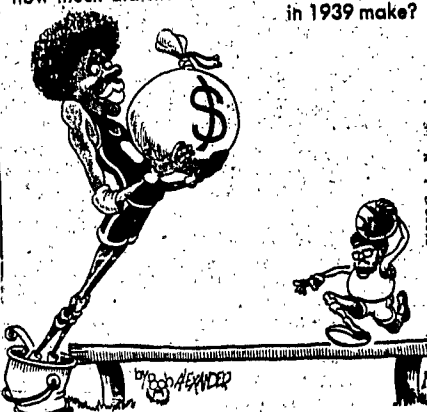

A versatile performer, Stafford has appeared on almost every television talk and variety show. He hosted "Those Amazing Animals" and is in his second season as host of "Nashville on the Road."

By the time he was 14, Stafford had taken up the guitar and began to play in rock 'n' roll bands while a high school student in Florida.

Seven years after discovering the guitar, Stafford got a job with the "Opry" in Nashville. Two years later he moved to Atlanta. Stafford started writing novelty songs because he didn't think his voice was good enough to sing ballads or pop music.

He soon came to the attention of Mike Curb who signed him to MGM Records. Since then, Stafford has won numerous honors, including Record World's "Top New Vocalist."

Tickets for the Rodeo are $8, $5 and $3, reserved seats and may be purchased through the mail from Dixie National Rodeo, P.O. Box 392, Jackson, Miss. 39206. Enclose $1 for handling charge.

Journalist, port director offer encouragement to UNO grads

Despite today's economic, political and social difficulties, the future looks bright, graduates at the University of New Orleans' two winter commencement programs were told.

In speeches at the morning and afternoon exercises Dec. 18, Charles A. Ferguson, editor, The Times-Picayune/States Item, and Edward S. Reed, executive port director and general manager for Board of Commissioners, Port of New Orleans, offered words of encouragement to UNO's 548 graduates.

Of the total degrees awarded, 424 were bachelor's, 122 master's and two doctorates. Two graduates, both of whom maintained a perfect 4.0 average while working toward a bachelor of science degree in accounting, received their diplomas with magna cum laude honors.

They are Mona Foch DeVille and Lisa A. Valentino, both of New Orleans. They were both awarded a Chancellor's medal from UNO Chancellor Leon J. Richelle in recognition of their superior scholastic achievement.

Nine other graduates earned their degrees with honors. Receiving their diplomas with magna cum laude honors for earning an overall average of between 3.80 and 3.95 were Helen G. Meyer of New Orleans, Cynthia Cummings Batholomew of Harahan, and Diane M. Dupuis, Carolyn C. Johnson, and Mark D. Kuss, all of Metairie.

Three graduates who had an overall average of between 3.700 and 3.859 to earn them cum laude honors were Karen A. Gebbia of New Orleans; Catherine A. Ducote Lutz, Waggaman; and Lisa M. Montelepre of Metairie.

Brian P. Bonanno of Metairie earned his degree "with honors in civil engineering."

Ferguson said that college graduates today can expect to achieve "a reasonable" standard of living, although not necessarily "a better" standard of living than their parents.

They can, he said, like earlier generations go forth "from the colleges and universities of this nation to discover new challenges to be met, new battles to be fought."

"The truly good life, as opposed to the good life defined by Madison Avenue, involves more...than mere status and the acquisition of material possessions," Ferguson said.

"William Alexander Percy of Mississippi, an older cousin of writer Walker Percy, did not have to worry about where his next meal would come from. He was a wealthy man. But he was also among the last of what is lamentably a vanishing species — a true aristocrat who rose above wealth and position to become a great man. For Percy, the good life was one 'where man fighting for something beyond his ken is defeated but attains victory over the powers of darkness by virtue of the battle nobly fought.'"

Ferguson addressed graduates of UNO's College of Education, College of Liberal Arts, graduate degree candidates from those areas, the School of Urban and Regional Studies, and General Studies Program.

"The future opportunities in the state and community are almost unlimited," said Reed. "While business, not only locally but worldwide, is at an extremely low ebb at this time, we at the Port (of New Orleans) are continuing with massive construction so that when, I don't say if, but when, that surge of returning business takes place, we will be ready for it."

Reed, who said that much of the state's future prosperity depends upon an image of ethics and integrity, reminded his audience that "except for very rare periods of national and international tranquility, the so-called civilized world has always appeared to be on the brink of self destruction, but has proven to be amazingly resilient and, in retrospect, has continued to provide an increasingly better and more interesting environment."

Reed was addressing graduates from the College of Business Administration, College of Sciences, College of Engineering and graduate degree candidates in those areas.

Chancellor Richelle presided at both ceremonies. Confering degrees at the morning and afternoon programs, respectively, were Mrs. Helen G. Crawford, member, LSU Board of Supervisors, and Chancellor Richelle.

Delivering the invocation and benediction at the morning and afternoon ceremonies, respectively, were Dr. William H. Elder III, senior minister, St. Charles Avenue Baptist Church, and the Rev. Volover W. Williams, Jr., pastor, Bethel Africa Methodist Church.
